"…There is not a door in the whole house, lest some turning hinge should creak, nor is there any watchman at the threshold.

And around the god of Sleep lie empty dreams, made to resemble different shapes, as many as the corn ears in the harvest, as leaves on the woodland trees, or sands scattered on the shores."–Ovid, Metamorphosis, Book XI

HYPNAGOGUE 1

"On a dream-hill we'll build our city,
and we'll build gates that have two keys—
love to let in the vanquished, and pity to close the locks that shelter these."

—Humbert Wolfe, The Dream City
